MANY PASSENGERS COME ON MONGOLIA

Several Residents Of Honolulu Among Arrivals

HON. W. CAMERON FORBES ON WAY TO PHILIPPINES

LARGE NUMBER BOARD LINER AT THIS PORT FOR ORIENT.
SAILED THIS MORN-ING.

Of the sixty-four passengers arriving from the Coast on the Mongolia, which was tied up to the Hackfeld wharf at 5 o'clock yesterday evening, a fair number are residents of this city. In addition to those whose passage ended here, there were fifteen people who stopped over, and who will take a later vessel for the Orient. The Mongolia took on thirty-three new passengers from Honolulu to Oriental ports.

The trip of the Mongolia from San Francisco was without any special event. Six days and four hours were spent in traveling from the Coast to this port. The vessel resumed its westward course at 11 o'clock this morning. The people who departed on the Mongolia are nearly all tourists, who arrived in Honolulu on previous ships and are now continuing their way to Japan or China.

Among the passengers who are bound for the Orient is Hon. W. Cameron Forbes, a member of the Philippine Commission. Mr. Forbes has been to the States to attend to official business, among which was the opening of bids for railway concessions and construction in the Philippines. The only awards made were for roads on the islands of Cebu, Panay and Negros. No awards were made for roads on Luzon.

There are eleven routes to be constructed on Luzon, and a part of these were bid upon at a previous time, but the offers were not favorable to the Government. The Government will probably keep on soliciting bids until satisfactory terms are offered. Mr. Forbes has been in the States for two months, and is getting anxious to return to his duties in Manila.

Judge Charles H. Smith, one of the highest judicial officials in Luzon, is also a passenger on the Mongolia. He has been in the States on a vacation. He left Manila in September and is due back to the Islands next month.

Among the arrivals in Honolulu on the Mongolia was J. F. Hackfeld, Mr. Hackfeld, who is well-known here as the head of the firm that bears his name, came all the way from Germany in twenty days, two days of that time being spent in stopping off in New York and San Francisco. It has been eight months since he was in Honolulu, and he does not know how long he will remain here before returning to his home in Germany. He is here to attend to business matters.

Dr. L. E. Cofer, his wife and daughter, returned to Honolulu on the Mongolia. Dr. Cofer has charge of the U. S. Quarantine Station here, which is being conducted during his absence by Dr. Hobdy. The former has been on a visit to the States with his family.

F. W. Beardslee, an architect of this city, also returned from a trip to the Coast, as did also A. N. Campbell, of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company.

Other Honolulu people who arrived on the Mongolia are Colonel and Mrs. George De La Vergne, and Mr. and Mrs. James P. Wilder and their children.

UNUSUALLY DRY FOR THIS SEASON

For the Week Ending February 10, '36.
Local Office, U. S. Weather Bureau
Honolulu, T. H., February 12, 1936
GENERAL SUMMARY.

During the past week, unusually dry weather for this season of the year has prevailed in practically all sections of the group. The days have been moderately warm and sunny, but very low night temperatures have continued.

Shortage of water for the fluming of cane is complained of in the Hilo district of Hawaii, but with this exception the settled weather conditions have been most favorable for the ripening of 1936 cane and for the harvesting operations which are proceeding rapidly in all sections. On account of the low temperatures, young cane has made very little growth and is in need of rain in portions of windward and southern Hawaii. In central Maui, the supply of mountain water for irrigation purposes is quite low, necessitating the operation of most of the pumps. Winter pineapples have ripened rapidly during the past week, and young pineapple plants are in good condition.

The work of setting out rice sprouts for the first crop of 1936 is progressing rapidly and will soon be completed. Coffee trees are in good condition. Pastures are deteriorating in many sections on account of the continued dry weather. Sisal in leeward Oahu is in fine condition, and milling operations will soon begin. Wheat, barley, corn, beans, peas and potatoes are being planted in central Maui. The summit of Mauna Kea in Hawaii is still covered with snow.

REMARKS BY CORRESPONDENTS, ISLAND OF HAWAII.
Kauai—Water supply for cane fluming getting short; cane for crop of 1937 and vegetables suffering for want of rain, and side hill pastures dry; stripping and harvesting cane; mean temperature, 66°; no rainfall.—J. E. Gamallison.

Ponahawai—Bananas and garden truck showing effects of dry weather; pastures also getting dry, and grazing stock falling off; plowing land and planting cane; no rainfall.—J. E. Gamallison.

Hilo—Dry weather continues, with warm days and cold nights; no rainfall; crops and pastures making very little growth; mean temperature 69°.—L. C. Lyman.

Papaikou—Weather very dry, and crops making very little growth; carting cane to Pepekeo and Wainaku as the hilling house was burned down on the 1st; rainfall, .03 inch.—J. T. Moir.

Pepeekeo—Dry, cool weather, unfavorable for growth; cutting and grinding cane; clearing and plowing fields; mean temperature, 69°; rainfall, .26 inch.—Jas. Webster.

Honolulu—Dry weather continues, with bright, sunshiny days and cool nights; 1936 crop cane ripening rapidly, but little growth of young cane noticeable during past week; clearing and plowing land, and harvesting cane.—Wm. Pullar.

Hakalau—Weather dry and windy, with warm days and cold nights; streams drying up and fluming water running short; plowing land; stripping, harvesting, planting and fertilizing cane; rainfall, .21 inch.—J. M. Ross.

Honolulu—Week's total rainfall, .20 inch.—John Patterson.

Papaikou—The past week has been dry, with warm days, cool nights and moderate winds; harvesting cane; rainfall, .35 inch.—C. McLennan.

Laupahoehoe—Northerly swell, with calms; clear, cold nights and light winds from north; coffee picking not yet finished; rainfall, .85 inch.—E. W. Barnard.

Paunalo—Squalls from the north gave us rain twice this week; cold mornings with south winds from snow on Mauna Kea, and not very warm days, have not been conducive to good crop growth; cane harvesting still continues; mean temperature, 60°; rainfall, .77 inch.—C. R. Blacow.

Paunalo—Dry, calm weather during greater part of week; cane ripening rapidly, and all crops in good condition; rainfall, .42 inch.—H. Glass.

Honolulu—Calm weather, with low temperatures this week; light southerly winds; mean temperature, 68°; rainfall, .51 inch.—C. H. Bragg.

Niuli—Light, shifting winds during week; cane harvesting continues; mean temperature, 69°; rainfall, .41 inch.—Robt. Hall.

Kohala—Weather dry; warm days, but temperatures low at night; harvesting and grinding cane; steam plowing and planting; mean temperature, 68°; rainfall, .39 inch.—W. O. Taylor.

Kamuela—Fine, warm days and cool nights; excellent growing weather; mean temperature, 62°; rainfall, .05 inch.—Mrs. E. W. Hay.

Kealahou—Warm days and moderately cool nights; rainfall, .11 inch.—Rev. S. H. Davis.

Kealahou—Fine growing weather; heavy seas during first part of week; rainfall, .17 inch.—Robt. Wallace.

Kau—Cloudy days this week, with little wind and considerable smoke in atmosphere; moderate day temperatures, but nights are cool; rain needed; mean temperature, 62°; rainfall, .01 inch.—F. H. Hayselden.

Naalehu—Warm days and cool nights; very little wind; no rain for two weeks.—G. G. Kinney.

Pahala—Warm days and cool nights; light southerly winds; mean temperature, 66°; rainfall, .19 inch.—H. D. Harrison.

Kapoho—Warm days and cool nights; a good rain would be beneficial; mean temperature, 69°; rainfall, .04 inch.—H. J. Lyman.

Hana—Clear, cool weather, with variable winds, mostly northerly; light showers on 2d and 6th.—N. Omsted.

Hualo—Weather still continues dry and cold; heavy surf; all vegetation making very little growth; stock of all kinds in fair condition; mean temperature, 66°; rainfall, .65 inch.—W. F. Fogue.

Haiku—Temperatures rather low both day and night, but dry, sunny days, with light winds, have been favorable for plant growth, and for general agricultural operations; plantation irrigation ditches running low; mean temperature, 68°; rainfall, 0.10 inch.—D. D. Baldwin.

Paia—Moderate day temperatures and cool nights; only .10 inch of rain this week, and pastures, except in a few localities, are becoming rather dry; good weather for cane harvesting.—J. J. Jones.

Makawao—Clear, warm days and cool nights, with light southerly winds nearly all week; planting wheat, barley, corn, beans, peas and potatoes; early crops coming along well; in the Kula section of district, the weather all week; clearing land for planting; pastures and stock in good condition.—E. H. Bailey.

Puunene—Warm days and cool nights, with light, variable winds; water in irrigation ditches falling off slightly, and four pumps now running; good harvesting weather; rainfall, .12 inch.—J. N. S. Williams.

Waialuku—Clear, steady weather all week, but too cool for plant life to make much growth; light, variable winds; planting rice in all sections; mean temperature, 63°; rainfall, .15 inch.—Bro. Frank.

Kihel—Very dry this week; days moderately warm and nights cool; rain much needed to windward as irrigation ditches are all very low, necessitating pumping again; harvesting cane; clearing and plowing lands; mean temperature, 68°; rainfall, .02 inch.—James Scott.

ISLAND OF OAHU.

Maunawili—Weather unusually dry for this district and season; pastures in poor condition; pruning and cultivating coffee; mean temperature, 69°; rainfall, .18 inch.—John Herd.

Waimanalo—Warm days and very cold nights, with no rain.—A. Irvine.

Palolo—Clear, dry weather during the past week; vegetables growing well during the warm days; taro has been planted in many of last year's rice patches, rice lands have been plowed and harrowed and some planting has been done.—F. L. Webster.

Honolulu—Mean temperature, 68°; rainfall, .01 inch.—Local Office, U. S. Weather Bureau.

Ewa—Variable winds during week, with sultry days and very cool nights; mean temperature, 65°; no rainfall.—W. Lohrengel.

Sisal—Weather cold and dry, with westerly winds; sisal in splendid condition; nearly ready for milling.—Wm. Weinrich, Jr.

Waianae—Warm, sunny days all week, but night temperatures still rather low; mean temperature, 70°; rainfall, .04 inch.—F. Meyer.

ISLAND OF KAULA.

Makaweli—Northerly winds and clear weather during early part of week, followed by stormy westerly winds; mean temperature, 69°; rainfall, .17 inch.—Hawaiian Sugar Co.

Kilauea—Weather very even all week with warm days and cool nights; the harvesting and grinding of cane goes on without interruption; no rain.—McBryde Sugar Co.

Koloa—Weather dry, with cool nights; mean temperature, 67°; rainfall, .01 inch.—P. McLane.

Lihue—Warm days and cool nights with southwesterly winds; mean temperature, 65°; rainfall, .03 inch.—F. Weber.

Keala—Light rain during latter part of week, which was otherwise very dry; cool nights, and variable winds; weather good for harvesting, but too cool for young cane to make much growth; mean temperature 67°; rainfall, .27 inch.—W. Jarvis.

Kilauea—The weather still continues dry, with very cold nights; mean temperature, 66°; rainfall, .23 inch.—L. B. Boreiko.

Hanalei—Unsettled weather still continues, with northwest winds, light showers and cold nights; rice patches almost all planted; lowland pastures still suffering from salt air, but upland pastures in good condition; rainfall, 1.40 inches.—E. G. K. Deverill.

Electric Cleanliness

There is really but one way to keep rooms unspotted from the world, to make every dusky dusty corner wholesome, fresh and attractive; and that is to do all cleaning in the shadowy places by electric light.

With electric bulbs in badly lighted halls and inner rooms, no microbe particle of dust can escape, and the death knell of moths, ants and roaches is sounded.

To clean home by electric light is like working in sunlight, and it is no greater drain on the oxygen of the room than a sunbeam is. And a bright light lessens the work of cleaning.
